

Service Schedule – Internode Virtual Private Server

Service Description and Specifications

The terms and conditions contained in this Service Schedule are additional to, and should be read in conjunction with, Internode's Standard Form of Agreement or Master Services Agreement (as applicable).

Use of the Virtual Private Server Service ("Service") is subject to Internode's Standard Form of Agreement or Master Services Agreement (as applicable) and this Service Schedule. This Service comprises a Virtual Private Server in a Virtual Data Centre, associated System Software and other ancillary services which can be accessed either via the Internet or Internode Business Connect dependent on the service ordered.

This Service Schedule takes precedence over Internode's Standard Form of Agreement or Master Services Agreement (as applicable) to the extent of any inconsistency.

Internode Virtual Private Server - Specific Clauses

DEFINITIONS

Fault, for the purposes of the Availability Guarantee (as set out in Internode's the Standard Form of Agreement or Master Services Agreement (as applicable)), means a failure of the Service where: (a) the Service is unusable or unavailable, (b) there is significant impact on you, and (c) there is no bypass or workaround available.

Service Equipment means all hardware and software used in providing the Service;

System Software means all software installed on and operated using the Service Equipment that has been installed by Internode or Internode's TP Suppliers including the operating system, monitoring and backup software;

TP Supplier means a third party supplier which supplies Internode with goods and/or services (including wholesale telecommunications services) that are necessary for our provision of the Service to you (including a supplier which provides Internode with Goods or services for re-supply to you);

Virtual Data Centre (VDC) or a Virtual Private Data Centre is a virtual container in which VPS(s) are deployed. This container is where some services are connected which can include Firewall services, private VLAN, Internet connectivity and IBC connectivity. Once these services are connected they can be made available to the VPS(s) within the VDC.

Virtual Private Server (VPS, also referred to as Virtual Dedicated Server or VDS) is a method of dividing underlying hardware server resources into virtual servers, where resources can be allocated in a way that does not directly reflect the underlying hardware. Each virtual server can run its own full-fledged operating system, applications and each virtual server is an independent environment that can be independently rebooted, stopped, or started.

THE SERVICE

1. This Service provides a cost-effective and scalable option for customers requiring dedicated server solutions. It delivers the superior bandwidth and high availability benefits of data centre hosting; combined with the flexibility and security of a dedicated device. Key issues of redundancy, firewalling, monitoring and management of both hardware and operating systems are all addressed as part of this comprehensive solution set.

GENERAL

2. Internode reserves the right to change the products purchased by you as part of the Service in circumstances where these products are either no longer available or out of date and in such circumstances Internode agrees to provide an alternative product which in Internode's reasonable opinion fulfils the service obligations within this Agreement. Internode will give you 30 days notice of any such changes to products. Internode will not make any change to Services being provided during the contract Term (as indicated on the Application) unless it is no longer possible to provide the relevant Services. Where products are changed in the above mentioned circumstances there may be a change in the price for the Service. You agree to accept any changes to the price in these circumstances.
3. Where pricing information is identified in the Application for the Service this pricing will be reviewed by Internode on an annual basis and can be increased by Internode to reflect any market changes (including increases in prices charged by Internode's TP Suppliers) that arise in its reasonable opinion. Any increase in pricing will apply to the Service 30 days from the date of notice provided to you. A Service will not be affected by a pricing change during the contract Term of the Service as agreed in the Application (excluding services (such as software licensing) that are identified as services whose price is subject to change from time to time. Internode will provide 30 days written notice where pricing changes are required for those services).
4. Solely in order to satisfy regulatory obligations and licensing requirements, where necessary, Internode and/or its TP Suppliers and/or the third party owners of any intellectual property rights contained in any part of the Service, reserve the right at any time to monitor and audit your use the Service. You must provide reasonable assistance where required so as to reasonably comply with any regulatory obligations or licensing requirements.
5. Unless purchased from Internode as part of the Service you must ensure all components of your Service are patched regularly and appropriate virus scanning and removal tools are installed and operational. You will be liable for the cost of mitigating or eradicating any viruses found on your Service that have not been introduced by Internode or its TP Suppliers.
6. If you have purchased a level of management that includes patching Internode or its TP Suppliers may, in the event of an urgent advisory or incident, install critical security patch updates to the Virtual Private Server and/or System Software with minimal or no notice to you where Internode or its TP Suppliers deem appropriate.
7. The IP addresses allocated to you with the Service are the property of Internode and/or its TP Suppliers and are allocated on a temporary basis and are not portable. Internode may change these on reasonable notice and where it does so will seek to minimise any inconvenience to you. You will have no right to use these IP addresses following termination of the Service. Any change that you need to make to your IP addresses following termination is your sole responsibility.
8. Whilst you are the sole owner of your data, you do not own nor have any right, title or claim whatsoever to any of the software, equipment (including hardware), facilities, documents, data, drawings, specifications, computer programs, object code, source code, network designs, sketches or discoveries developed or utilised for the benefit of you by Internode or its TP Suppliers ("Components"). Internode and/or its TP Suppliers retain all right, title and ownership of Components under this under this agreement, including any adaptations and improvements. Such right and title vests in and remains the sole and exclusive property of Internode and its TP Suppliers. You agree, at Internode's request, to take all such actions and execute all such documents as may in Internode's or its TP Suppliers' reasonable opinion be necessary to enable Internode or its TP Suppliers' to obtain, defend or enforce its rights in this regard and you must not do or fail to do any act which would or might prejudice Internode's or its TP Suppliers' right under this clause.
9. This agreement will continue in full force and effect after the expiration of the contract Term (as indicated on the Application) until terminated by you or Internode, either pursuant to the Standard Form of Agreement or Master Services Agreement (as applicable) or for any reason by giving the other party 3 months written notice. You must pay Internode all fees arising until the end of the above mentioned notice period.
10. During the contract Term (as indicated on the Application), the Early Termination Charges are the fees owing for the remainder of the contract Term from the date of cancellation. The parties acknowledge and agree that the Early Termination Charge is a genuine pre-estimate of the loss that Internode will suffer if this agreement terminates early and is not a penalty.

11. You:
 - 11.1 acknowledge that Internode and its TP Suppliers exercise no control over the content of information passing through their sites, facilities and equipment. You agree it is your sole responsibility to ensure that the information you transmit and receive complies with all applicable laws and regulations;
 - 11.2 agree that you are responsible for the content of all postings, data or transmissions arising from the usage of the Service by you, any third party you permit to use the Service or any third party who uses the Service through your access information (whether authorised by you or not);
 - 11.3 you warrant that neither you nor any third party you permit to use the Service nor any third party who uses the Service through your access information (whether authorised by you or not) will use the Service for an unlawful purpose or interfere or disrupt other network users, network services or equipment. The definition of disrupt is very broad and includes, but is not limited to, unsolicited advertising, falsification of identity, harassment of other users or compromising the security or integrity of passwords or network information; and
 - 11.4 you agree that you will comply with the terms of all third party software licensing terms and conditions provided by Internode from time to time (including updates) concerning the use of Service.
12. In addition to other rights of termination, Internode may immediately terminate the Service without penalty by written notice if any of the following occurs:
 - 12.1 Internode or its TP Suppliers become aware or are advised by any regulatory authority that applicable laws, rules or decisions (of a court, tribunal or government) prohibit the provision of the Service;
 - 12.2 cancellation, termination or expiration of any lease or licence governing the site or sites from which the Service is provided, or where the Service Equipment is located;
 - 12.3 the supplier of services to Internode's TP Suppliers suspends, cancels, terminates or does not renew its supply of products and services to Internode's TP Suppliers (through no fault of the relevant TP Supplier), and as a result, seriously impairs or prevents Internode's TP Suppliers from delivering products and services to Internode that are required to provide the Service to you;
 - 12.4 any permit, licence or consent required for the provision of the Service cannot reasonably be obtained by Internode or Internode's TP Suppliers.

Although Internode has the right to immediately terminate under this clause, Internode will endeavour to provide notice where this is reasonably practicable.

13. If you are purchasing a product that is licensed from Microsoft then you agree to the following:
 - 13.1 the undersigned hereby acknowledges that its use of Microsoft products accompanying the computer equipment rented or leased pursuant to this agreement is governed by the End User License Terms, a copy of which is attached hereto (as Appendix A);
 - 13.2 Microsoft may change products or pricing at any time and consequentially both are subject to change from time to time. Internode has no control over the above and will provide 30 days written notice to you where pricing changes are required; and
 - 13.3 Microsoft's Service Provider Use Rights ("SPUR") and Microsoft End User License Agreement (Appendix A) terms apply. Pricing is updated annually by Microsoft on 31st of January. SPUR is available from Microsoft's website - <http://www.microsoft.com/serviceproviders/licensing/default.aspx>.
